

ABSTRACT

The present invention provides a lysine ester triisocyanate represented by general formula (I):

(wherein R represents lower alkylene), characterized in that the change in a hue value (APHA) of the lysine ester triisocyanate is 20 or less when it is stored for two weeks at 40°C in a nitrogen atmosphere under blocking light; and a process for producing the same.